TRADE SCHOOLS.
New Britain to Get One Institution and Bridgeport the Other.

Bridgeport will get the trade school, for which the committee has worked so hard. The committee received word Thursday that the state board of education has decided to locate one trade school in New Britain and one in Bridgeport.

When the state first decided to appropriate money for these schools, there was a great scramble on the part of the various municipalities to secure the awards. A committee consisting of representatives from the board of trade, the business men's association and the manufacturers' association was appointed and the members have labored hard to get one of the schools for Bridgeport, which is recognized as the industrial capital of the state. The work on the school will be started soon, probably next month.

DREADFUL DANDRUFF
Girl's Head Encrusted—Feared Loss of All Her Hair—Baby Had Milk-Crust—Missionary's Wife Made PERFECT CURES BY CUTICURA

"For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest. Every one in that high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was alarmed for fear she would lose all her hair. After trying various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. They cured the scalp beautifully clean and free from dandruff and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. I have also used successfully the Cuticura Remedies for so-called 'milk-crust' on baby's head. Cuticura is a blessing. Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., Carthage, Mo., Jan. 20, 1908."

SPIRITUAL ACADEMY CONCERT.

Miss Florence Wolcott, Soprano Soloist.

At the Spiritual Academy, Park street, Sunday evening, will be held the regular monthly concert service, with Miss Florence Wolcott, soprano, as soloist. Miss Wolcott will sing Campion's "Ninety and Nine," a beautiful aria, that has become closely identified with her church work in New York and Brooklyn. This is a number that calls for a great amount of musical training and experience, one that is familiar to all lovers of the best in sacred songs. She will also sing the sweetly beautiful song of Marston's, "While I Stray," with violin obbligato.

The music is under the direction of Organist Charles A. Dowsett, who will be further assisted by Miss Mildred Gilchrist at the piano. Mrs. Dowsett with the violin and others.

There is no admission to these concert services, there being an offering. Service beginning at 7.30.

The Auditorium.

But two days remain for those who have not witnessed the sparkling vaudeville and motion picture bill at the Auditorium. The management has shown excellent judgment in putting together a show in which there were no conflicting numbers. One of the many features for the current week is the act of the Marshall brothers, two clean-cut, perfectly developed athletes, who perform with ease and precision feats of remarkable strength and agility. The laughing honors of the programme go to Lon Smith, the popular Boston musician and composer, whose impersonation of a Hebrew musician is a scream. Mr. Smith is ably assisted by Mr. Casey, a performer of mean ability on the saxophone and cornet, who holds down the difficult position of "straight" man in first class style. Burton and Shea have a neat talking skit which enables Mr. Burton to display to advantage an excellent tenor voice. Greta Byron and Lillian Morelle hold up their end of the programme to the best advantage. New pictures for Friday and Saturday are: Love and War (A Tale of Waterloo), A Knight for a Night, The Course of True Love, Vendetta, The Garbage of Paris, and others.

BREED THEATER.

"Change of Heart," The Superb Biograph Picture.

The immensely popular biograph cast appeared again to a large and enthusiastic audience at the Breed theater last evening, but this time in a new vehicle for displaying their versatility. It being the pretty and accurate portrayal of the love of a wealthy city youth for a simple country maiden, shown under the title of A Change of Heart. In this picture the youth deceives the trusting girl by a mock marriage, the fact not being discovered until the arrival of the young lover and war. (A Tale of Waterloo). She gives him some advice, which he is forced to accept, and he hastens to the home of the young girl, and takes her with him to her own pastor's, where they are legally married in the presence of the members of both families. This picture is as handsome as one as has been shown this season, and the marvellously truthful interpretation of the various roles is most commendable.

The programme also shows several other feature pictures, each over 1,000 feet in length, and of absorbing interest, pictorially perfect, and proving most satisfactory to the large number of spectators.

Miss Florence Wolcott, the soprano soloist at the Breed, is winning her way rapidly into the favor of the patrons of this popular theater, her undeniable talent and ability, partially won through the possession of a repertoire of thirty-five operas, appears to advantage in the beautiful selection, My Villa, from The Merry Widow.

SHEEP INDUSTRY.

Hart E. Buell Believes It Can Be Made a Success in Connecticut.

Can the sheep industry be made a success in Connecticut? Hart E. Buell of Hebron believes in sheep husbandry for a young man. He says in the Hartford Courant:

"Sheep are not raised enough in this state. According to the report of the superintendent of agriculture, there were at the beginning of this year 137,000 milch cows valued at $38 apiece, $5,200 other cattle valued at $17.50, making the total value of cows and cattle $8,658,000. There were only 34,000 sheep, valued at $4.40 a head, $150,000, and 52,000 dogs, or 50 per cent more dogs than sheep. A Wisconsin breeder of sheep has said that the sheep industry is profitable in proportion to the quantity and quality of the dogs kept in a community and that the intelligence of a community is noted according to the conspicuous absence of dogs."

"According to these statistics there is one sheep to six and a half head of horned stock, $1 invested in sheep to $44 in cattle. What are these sheep paying as compared with cows?"

"Statistics gathered from several dairymen give the average amount received per year per cow above the cost of grain as $42, that is, the average cow is paying $42 per year for hay, grass, taxes, interest, insurance, shrinkage in value, care, etc. A part of the dairymen who furnished these figures are making butter and part are shipping milk."

"According to the old rule, it took the same amount of hay to winter one cow that it did to winter ten sheep. My estimate is six sheep to one cow. A low estimate of the returns from sheep after paying for the grain is $4 each per year. Most breeders give it as $5 to $6."
